

Quincy's Early College High School Pathway

Quincy's ECHS Pathway Program is a cohort-based program that will provide students with support in and outside of the classroom that will better position them for their transition to college.

This program provides the opportunity to earn college credits while still in high school (at no cost to the student), while receiving robust academic and non-academic support during their ECHS Pathway experience.

Join Quincy's Early College High School Pathway Program!

Currently offered to students entering Grades 9, 10, 11 and 12.

Save time

Earn high school & college credit at the same time.

Save money

Students can save an average of $11,000 in tuition by earning up to 25 college credits at no cost through ECHS. Tuition, fees, and textbooks are included.

Develop skills

That will help you succeed in college and your career.
